Sarah McEneaney is one of Philadelphia's most recognized and best loved artists. She is well known for her autobiographical paintings, which chronicle her life in Philadelphia, as well as her extensive travels. Her work has been included in numerous group and solo exhibitions over the last thirty years, including a prestigious retrospective at the Institute of Contemporary Art, Philadelphia in 2004. Sarah is represented by the Tibor de Nagy Gallery, New York, and has had recent solo exhibitions at the Mills College Art Museum, Oakland, CA, and Locks Gallery, Philadelphia.
